VOLUME LXX. GRENADA, MISSISSIPPI, FRIDAY, MARCH 2, 1923. NUMBER 41

MR. TAXPAYER WILL YOU STUDY THESE FIGURES?

Legislative Appropriations for Various Departments and State Offices Over 200 Per Cent Above What They Were Before 1920. Biggest Increase in Department of Education and State Board of Health. Note Salary of Pen Superintendent. Realty and Personalty Assessment and State Tax Levy from 1880 up to 1920. Increase in Assessment in Grenada County 33% Since 1915. Increase in Total Assessment of State from 1915 to 1921, 57%. Appropriations Beginning in 1914 with Slightly Over Nine Million Run in 1920 to Over Twenty Four Million. Read and Ponder.

For the information of the general public, the editor of this paper has gone to some trouble to get up such data as he thinks will be of special service to the people of the State just at this time when they are deeply concerned about debts and taxes and what becomes of the public money.

From official publications, the following expenditures are shown for the different departments of the State government. The first line of figures show what was paid the officers and employes before the meeting of the legislature in 1920 and the second line of figures show what is paid the officers and employes of these departments since the increases put on by the legislature with the consent and with the approval of Gov. Russell at the legislative session of 1920 and since that time.

Just before Gov. Russell was sworn into office, Gov. Bilbo approved the law increasing the Governor's salary from $5,000 to $7,500. Seventy-five hundred dollars is not too much to pay a real Governor, but regardless of who is Governor, it was regarded as an act of bad faith to accept an increase after the people had elected him at another salary. There are not many who believe that had the question been raised in the race for Governor during campaign of 1919, that the present executive would not have raised hands in holy horror at the very intimation that he would allow his salary increased $10,000 during his term of office. Bear in mind that Gov. Russell was Lt. Governor and that he presided over the Senate which passed the law increasing his salary and the law makes it the duty of the Lt. Governor and presiding officer of the Senate to sign all bills that pass that body.

Population—1880, 1,131,597; 1890, 1,289,600; 1900, 1,551,270; 1910, 1,797,114; 1920, 1,790,618.

Total increase in assessment for 1920 over 1880, 665%, which includes the public service corporations for 1920. Total increase in assessment of realty and personalty alone for the 40 year period, 543%.

Legislative Appropriations

Official records show the following total of Legislative appropriations for the years named:

|---|---|
| At regular session o f 1914, for 1914 and 1915 (Gov. Brewer's administration) | $9,874,813.37 |
| At regular session 1916, for 1916 and 1917 | $9,839,813.37 |
| At special session 1917, for 1916 and 1917 | 1,868,935.33 |
| Total appropriations for 1916 and 1917 | 11,708,748.70 |
| At regular session of 1918, for 1918 and 1919 | 12,895,179.16 |
| At regular session 1920, for 1920 and 1921 | $19,515,251.46 |
| Additional at session 1920, State institutions | 4,663,000.00 |
| Total at session 1920 | 24,178,251.46 |
| At regular session of 1922 for 1922 and 1923 | 19,407,724.34 |

By comparison, it will be seen that the total appropriations for the session of 1920 show 244% increase over the total appropriations for 1914.

The total realty and personalty and public service corporations assessment for 1921 was $727,205,709 which is an increase of over 57% of what it was in 1915, yet, as shown above, the increase in appropriations is nearly five times that amount.

It will also be observed that the State tax levy jumped from 6 mills to 9 mills, or an increase of 50 per cent, from 1915 to 1920. It was cut to 8 mills at the session of 1922 in order to in some measure appease the storm of protest that was then manifesting its thunders in the distance.

In spite of the increase in assessments and the increase in tax levy, the Legislature, which meets in January, will have a deficit of only six million dollars to meet (?)

In addition to the receipts on the above assessments, the reader will not forget that the State is collecting an inheritance tax which, for the year ending Sept. 30, 1921, amounted to $106,674.63, and besides this is the privilege taxes which covers almost everything from the dew of the morning to the rays from the stars that come chasing each other through the heavens at night.

It might be well for Grenada County readers to state that this County's assessment increased from 1915 to 1921 (the official publication for 1922 is not yet out) 33%.

In publishing these figures, The Sentinel does not mean that it thinks the State officials are overpaid, but it does think that the legislature blundered in increasing their salaries after they were elected. The State officials did just what 999 people out of every thousand would do, accepted the salary after the proper law-making body fixed it. But the primary purpose of this paper is to give the public the facts; show them where the money is used. Other publications as to appropriations and expenditures iwll follow from time to time. The above figures do not include porters, stamps and many other items which are provided for in the appropriations for the different departments.

JACKSON FLYING SQUADRON COMING

Will Make Talks to Men of Grenada Sunday Afternoon at Presbyterina Church. Union Services Sunday Night at First Baptist Church. Everybody Invited.

The Grenada Broadcasters, which is the name for the Grenada organization of the laymen of the different churches for religious work, announce that they have secured four members of the famous Jackson Flying Squadron, which is the Jackson organization of laymen for religious work, to be in Grenada next Sunday, March 4. These gentlemen are scheduled to arrive in Grenada on train No. 24, which is due here at about 1 o'clock, p. m. A general meeting of the laymen of the town will be held at the Presbyterian church that afternoon, at which the services will be conducted by the Flying Squadron. Every male member of every white church in Grenada is not only invited, but earnestly urged to attend this meeting. There are problems, if the wisest and most serious minded of the country are to be believed, that are pressing themselves upon the attention of every father and every mother and every thoughtful citizen, the like of which have never been presented before. Statesmen, philosophers and scientists have been discussing these problems but do not seem to have made much headway in solving them. To many, the idea presses itself that the world needs more of religion and more charity towards neighbor and friend. To many the idea presses itself that the world needs more of the revival of the home spirit and the home life and less of "business" just for the sake of "business."

It is always good for men to get together and learn each other. As much as people see of each other, as much as men associate with each other about town and on the streets and elsewhere, yet there are only a few that feel that they can penetrate the recesses of the other's heart. Men do not unbosom themselves enough to each other. If they did, there would be less misunderstandings and more genuine friendships.

On Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock, there will be services at the First Baptist church conducted by the Jackson laymen in which all the churches of the town will join. Everybody is invited, men, women and children, big, little, old and young. The Jackson men do not come as men of great learning but they come as men filled with a desire to tell what God has done for them. They will tell how they realized their condition of soul and how they turned about and made up their minds to worship God and to tell of the riches of Christ to others. Their stories are simple, yet thrilling. They but give the experience of millions of others. They will tell something that others need to hear. They will tell things that should be worth much to Grenada and Grenada County. Give them a big audience. Help bring others to the meeting Sunday. Tell everybody you see about it.

DISCUSSES DEVELOPMENT OF INDIVIDUAL

Dr. Losey Makes Addresses at College. Great Believer in the Poets. A Devotee of Shakespeare. The "Development of the Individual" a Great Appeal.

It was noted in The Sentinel of last week that Dr. Frederick D. Losey of New York City was in Grenada and that he was lecturing at Grenada College. It perhaps should have been stated that he was brought here largely through the efforts of Prof. John Rundle and that he came under the auspices of the College and of the pupils of Grenada High School.

He delivered four leectures, all of which were highly ornate, yet intensely human and indeed pertinent to the demands of the times.

His last lecture on Thursday night was on "The development of the individual," and was perhaps appreciated by a larger number more highly than any of the other three.

He began his Thursday night lecture by relating an incident told by Theodore Roosevelt when he was on a pullman train in the Orient and wanted the porter to shine his shoes. The porter informed Mr. Roosevelt's aide that he could not shine his shoes because his "union" objected, that so far as he was personally concerned he had no objections to performing the service. The porter's answer made the Ex-President moralaize thus: "That one man ought not to want another man to perform any service or do any work that he would not himslf be willing to do." Dr. Losey stated that one of the great things needful in the world today was a willingness to work with muscle as well as by wits or the brain, and a recognition of the fact that no honest work is degrading.

The Doctor asked the pardon of his audience for referring to himself and for bringing in so much of his personal history, but he said that he felt that that was the best way to illustrate and emphasize what he was undertaking to tell.

He then referred to his childhood in a little village town in New York where his father was about the lone physician. He recalled many things in connection with his father's practice that brought to the minds of the older ones the old country doctor and the home, the place that used to be regarded as the citidel from whence, and only whence, good boys and good girls came, and the place where the child got that training to work with his hands that is so necessary for one to make certain of meeting properly the duties of after life. He brought to mind of the older ones, the old home, the family fireside, parental interest in the child's school work, the parents aid and instruction in preparing the lessons for the school of the morrow, the family discipline, the Bible and hundreds of other things that used to be every day incidents of home life.

He stated in connection with his experience as a university professor how he had sat upon the stage and saw young men with their gowns pass by and get their diplomas and how he had revolved over and over in his mind what the young men had been taught and their purpose in life after leaving college. He said that his experience had taught him that a vast majority of these young men came to college with the idea that they must prepare to make a living by their wits rather than by manual labor, an idea that was still further emphasized and drilled into them at college—and he said a very large per cent of the university and college graduates were in that class—got their diplomas speculating as to what community they could go to and "make a living the easiest." He said that they were like vultures sailing around in the heavens above a carcass, which, after it is located, swoop down and begin to stick their beaks into the flesh of the carcass. "Making money," he insisted, was too much the standard. Money, he emphasized, was too much enthroned in directing the affairs of the country. He said that a vast majority of the young men go out from college not with the idea of trying to be a service in character building and in giving light on the sweeter and better things of life, but with the idea of "what can I get out of it." What will it be worth to me?

He said the idea of the dollar was taught almost everywhere. Why, he said, the department of education at Washington City had sent out bulletins emphasizing the dollar standard by citing statistics to show boys and young men how much more money the boy could earn who completed high school than the boy who

GUBERNATORIAL CANDIDATE RESENTS RUSSELL'S ALLUSIONS

Mike Conner Speaks of Russell as "Political Cadaver" and "Political Ditr Dobber". Russell's Attempt to Anoint Franklin as the Crown Prince of His Administration Will Prove Abortive Says Conner.

Hattiesburg. Miss., Feb. 23—"Any insinuation or statement expressed or implied, that any insidious influence is inspiring, fostering, or backing my candidacy is wilfully and maliciously false; and I challenge Lee Russel and those who take orders from him, to indicate one word or act of my eight years official record that was not for the wefare of the whole people."

Thus did Sennett Conner, speaker of the House and candidate for governor, reply to the recent letter of Lee Russell, in which the governor unqualifiedly endorsed L. C. Franklin, of Clarksdale, as his successor, and violently denounced all other candidates.

Mr. Conner was in the city today, and, when interviewed by a reporter, further said:

"This political cadaver sounds the old demagogic cry of 'Wolf! Wolf!' which has been used in the campaigns of the past, but this 'made-to-order rot' has lost its magic. An awakened public conscience in our State and the coming of women into public affairs, means that reckless charges, bombastic utterances, and Andy Gump platforms of Utopian platitudes and glittering generalities will not win. The real measure of a man's fitness for public office is the record of his achievements in the past, and not his ability to make promises for the future. The devil is the greatest maker of promises of the ages.

"Russell has anointed his Crown Prince to succeed him, but imperialistic successions don't go in democratic Mississipp. The people do not want a continuation of the present regime, and the concealment of its errors, intentional and otherwise, but they want to be assured of a 'wash day' after the next election, and that is what I will give them if I am elected. This voice crying from the political sepulchre has named the 'Moses', but few will regard the call as coming from very high inspiration.

"I do not fear Russell's opposition, for I have been thriving under it for several years. In 1920, after months of the most violent activity on his part, he was unable to muster sufficient strength to place a candidate in the field against me, and I was unanimously re-elected speaker. Since then, day by day, in every way he has grown weaker and weaker. But I do resent his characterization of the thousands of men and women who refuse to worship at his political shrine as 'gangsters.' If it is a crime to refuse to accept orders from Russell, then I am a hardened criminal.

"I had hoped this campaign would be free of the disturbing activity of the factionalist and the political dirt-dobber. People of all factions are tired of this bitter, internal strife, and they want co-operative effort and development to relieve the burdens under which they are staggering. I have served as speaker for eight years without an appeal from a ruling, not because I am a superior man, for I know my limitations, but because I gave every class and faction a square deal. That is the only way to give Mississippi a happy, successful administration, and I pledge myself to a continuation of that policy. The time-serving politician, without a record to commend his candidacy, will continue to wave the bloody shirt."

Mr. Conner concluded: "The fight is on, and I am in it to the finish for the principles for which I have stood in the past. You may say that I am going to make three hundred speeches in this campaign, from one boundary line to another, and that I shall submit to the people record facts, not extravagant claims and reckless charges, for their consideration."

"HOW WE ARE PASSING THE BUCK TO THE BABIES"

"Bond Issues Now Being Piled Up Will Be Burden in Years To Come" Says Henry Ford's Dearborn Independent. Some Figures That Ought to Make the Taxpayers Think Out Loud.

In Henry Ford's Weekly of February 24, the following article appeared under the above caption. It would seem that figures from such an authority ought to make people think what they are doing in issuing bonds under the guise of "let the next generation pay them." Many think, and properly, too, that the next generation will have greater and more complex problems than the present one. The parent who is "passing the buck" to his children is piling up trouble for his children:

Everybody who has read Dickens' "David Copperfield" remembers Wilkins Micawber, whose chronic financianl difficulties kept him forever in hot water. For years he went gaily on, contracting obligations and giving notes in payment, which he was unable to meet when due. Finally, with creditors keeping his house in a state of siege, he found himself at his wits' end.

Suddenly a brilliant idea struck him. He would negotiate a big new note, and with the proceeds of the note he would clean up all his old outstanding I. O. U's. A philanthropic money lender, in consideration of a heavy interest charge, agreed to put the transaction through. As Micawber arose from signing the note, he smiled happily and exclaimed: "Thank God! My debts are paid at last. Now I can look the world in the face!"

Dickens' satire may without exaggeration be applied today to the financial methods of the United States Government and of the various political units, within the nation. The only difference is that Micawber did not try to pass the buck of his financial indebtedness on to his little children, to be saddled upon them when they became of age. In his rational moments, he must have realized that eventually bankruptcy and the debtors' jail would overtake him, as they did, but he knew that his children would start life with a clean slate.

Of course, any government which forced children to pay, by the sweat of their brow, the debts piled up by wasteful and incompetent parents and grandparents, would be considered barbarous. Yet the United States Government today, by its own financial policies and the financial policies which it is encouraging in the state and municipal governments, is doing what it would not permit a citizen to do individually—to pledge the earning power of his children to secure money to pay his current bills.

Our Federal and local governments are piling up vast debts, and when they fall due adopting the Micawber system of "refunding," by issuing new notes. These new notes, euphemistically called bonds, generally have so long a time to run that the debt is in reality passed on to coming generations, which never contracted nor benefitted from the loan.

Only last autumn the United States Government announced a new issue of half a billion dollars' worth of bonds, payable in thirty years—Oct. 15, 1952, when babies now unborn will be paying taxes. On that date the big bondholders and bankers of Wall Street who hold the bonds will present their bill for the vast principal on which interest shall have been accumulating while the generation of that day has been growing up from childhood. Meanwhile, the generation of 1952 will have its own debts to pay in addition to those of its fathers and grandfathers. It will accordingly face the alternative of going into bankruptcy, or refunding the old debts again, at a higher rate of interest, and so passing the buck on again to its own children. But as long as the Wall Street bankers and bondholders can collect the interest from each generation, an live off it, "they should worry."

How U. S. Is "in Hock"

In order that I might not be mistaken as to the purpose of the recent Half-Billion Bond Issue. I wrote to a banker friend in Chicago for confirmation of my understanding, and received the following reply:

"You are correct in your assumption that the new issue of Government Certificates is to retire a portion of the Victory Liberty Loan 4 and ¾ and to refund certain Certificates of Indebtedness which are maturing. I am enclosing a circular which we have recently printed in connection with the loan and it may be of interest to you. I have noticed recently in the papers that on the basis of present budget estimates there will be a shortage for next year of approximately $700,000,000, and I wouldn't be surprised if there would be a very substantial issue of like government securities at this time next year."

The extent to which the United States is "in hock" to the Great Money Power seems to the ordinary layman almost incredible. The figures, however, can easily be verified at any public library.

Moody's Investors' Service, of 35 Naussau street, New York City, publishes a series of rating books, setting forth particulars regarding various classes of securities. Government and municipal securities occupy a separate book. The volume for the year 1922, which merely lists the current outstanding issues, is a book rivaling in size Webster's Unabridged Dictionary.

In this book the outstanding bond issues of the state of New York require more than 130 pages for mere listing. Besides the bond issues of the state government, there are listed some two hundred different cities, towns and villages, school districts, and counties. The grand total of public debt for this state is in the neighborhood of two billions of dollars. It is the same story with all the other states.

How much the total indebtedness represented by government bond issues throughout the country amounts to, is difficult to determine. It is so vast, that apparently no one has attempted to compute it. I wrote to the publishers of Moody's Rating Books, asking for a rough estimate of outstanding governmental bond issues, but they were not prepared to venture an estimate. Mr. M. N. Blakemore, vice-president of the company, in a very courteous letter, said: "It is very difficult for us to make an estimate of the grand total of all government bond issues as you request."

The statement has been made elsewhere, however, that the domestic bonds of our various governmental units, now outstanding, total between Thirty Billions and Forty Billions of dollars.

The great majority of these bonds have many years to run. Looking through the pages of the Moody Rating Book, one encounters again and again maturity dates of 1950, 1960, and even later

According to this authority, the domestic debt of the United States Government, covered by interest-bearing bonds, amounted on April 30, 1922, to the stupendous total of $22,954,730,525.

The Bank of North America, located in New York City, has recently sent me a copy o fits booklet entitled, "A National Survey of State Debts and Securities." An examination of this booklet shows that all our states are in hock in varying degrees, with the exception of Kansas and Nebraska. It is probable that soldier bonus legislation in various states has materially increased the outstanding indebtedness as shown by this survey. Illinois, for instance, is about to borrow $55,000,000 to provide funds to pay the bonus which was authorized last December. This will increase the indebtedness of Illinois five times the amount now outstanding.

Billion Owed by States Alone.

This survey shows the various states in debt, as of 1922, to the amount of $1,071,506,981.28. This sum represents debts owed by the state governments only.

All this indebtedness is represented by interest-bearing bonds, with the exception of that of Kentucky and Wisconsin.

Even little Hawaii has got into the swim, with a bonded debt of $13,299,000, with Porto Rico as a close second, boasting a bonded debt of $12,146,000. The Philippine Islands, however, have them both badly beaten, the little brown men having run up a debt of $46,625,000.

The District of Columbia, containing the National Capitol and the White House, was, on December 31, 1921, in hock to the tune of $4,874,700.

It should be remembered that the tremendous and appalling indebtedness of the municipal government is quite exclusive of school districts, park districts, and other independent taxing bodies. For instance, the Chicago Park Districts have a separate indebtedness of $12,800,250, while Cook County, with which Chicago is merely coterminous, has an indebtedness of $11,785,000. In Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, the school district is responsible for a bonded debt of nearly $10,000,000, in addition to the municipal indebtedness. Various other cities have a separate "water debt."

It is indeed a poor burg nowadays that cannot boast a debt of at least $1,000,000.

When it is recalled that many states, such as Illinois, contain more than 100 counties, and that each county has the right to float bonds, it may easily be conceived that the bonded indebtedness of the counties throughout the country totals an appalling amount.

There is not time to discuss in this article the fiscal, economic and political problems and controversies whichthe issuance of vast quantities of tax-exempt public securities has called forth. Suffice it to say that an individual may enjoy an income of millions a year, but if it is derived from interest on tax-exempt securities he need not pay a penny of income tax to the government. The question has lurking in it omnious possibilities. One of the most potent factors precipitating the French Revolution was the presence of tax-free classes in the nation.

TUBERCULOSIS SANATORIUM

With two large engines of 160 and 275 horse-power and directly connected with generators, three crossdrum, horizontal water tube, stoker-fired boilers of 250 hore-power each and a building of brick walls and reinforced concrete floors, the Mississippi Tuberculosis Sanatorium has probably the most modern and best equipped power plant of any hospital or sanatorium in the United States.

This building is located a few hundred yards to the right front of the Main Infirmary and opposite the fish pond from the Nurses' Home. Every part of it is fireproof with the exception of two wooden doors.

All pumps for steam, hot and cold water are in duplicate and keep the water and steam circulating through a maze of piping to all the buildings, specially designed tunnels of concrete carrying everything but the sewerage system. A motor driven air compressor first pumps water from three wells to a concrete reservoir of 100,000 gallon capacity and thence to an overhead tank of 50,000 gallons.

High voltage transmission lines run to the Sanatorium Farm and to Magee, the latter paying by meter so much per month.

An adequately equipped machine shop is located in the engine room and all repairs will be made without loss of power and time. A chimney 125 feet high stands to one side and is built of special brick tile, while at the back is a conerete railroad trestle for dumpng coal.

From the Extension Department State Tuberculosis Sanatorium, Sanatorium, Mississippi, February 23, 1923.

MORE BUSINESS AND LESS LAWS

What Mississippi needs is less legislation and more business. We don't want to send men to the legislature with a lawyers' brief case filled with bills, but we want to send some one there to help get rid of some of the bad measures we have on the statute books, and make the enforcing of laws not ogligatory but compulsory. We want judges that will hew strictly to the law; prosecuting attorneys that uphold the law and break it not either by precept or example; and jurors that believe in law and order and will meet out justice to those who are guilty of any and every infringement of the law. When we do this Mississippi will come into her own.—The Belzoni Banner.

Our esteemed contemporary presents a pretty fair synopsis of what the state needs in her legislature halls. Less legislation and more business. To get that we must send practical business men and not politicians to the legislature. Men who are able to investigate the financial conditions of the state and her needs and provide the means of running its affairs economically; who are able to raise the necessary revenue without placing any undue hardship upon any class; who vote conscientiously and intelligently and not to secure to any political faction some advantage in the distribution of patronage. Men who would first find out what the state can reasonably afford to spend and then keep the appropriations within this amount. That is the only sane and safe way of providing for the state's expenses. For many terms, appropriations have been made ahead of ascertaining what revenue could be raised without placing too heavy burden on the people and when it was found that too much money had been appropriated and the revenues of the state would not take care of the appropriations, a provision has always been made to authorize the governor to borrow to meet the deficit. The next legislature would have its own troubles and would have to issue bonds to take care of the deficit which the previous legislature passed to it. Any business that has to borrow money to pay running expenses will soon be bankrupted. The state is no exception to this rule and the sooner we realize this fact and profit by it the quicker we will get our debts paid.

Another element needed in a legislator is that of fairness. No class or set of persons should be legislated against because they seem to be more prosperous than another class. Every business should stand before the law without prejudice and the legislature should guard against this feature of legislation which is too often pressed by the demagogic legislator who seeks only to advance his personal interest by fighting somebody else. The state has suffered too much from this class of legislation and it is to be hoped that our next legislature may rise above such.—Tupelo Journal.

Mrs. Tom Lasiter Recovers Health Soon After Taking Stella Vitae.

"Eight years is a long time to suffer, but that is the way it was with me before Stella Vitae helped me out of my trouble," said Mrs. Tom Lasiter, Route 1, Readyville, Tenn "I had the most awful headaches you can imagine and there was a constant draggy pain low down in my right side, and it seems that I was in some sort of misery every hour of the day.

"My periods were irregular and that brought on more trouble, for my back would hurt like it would break in two and those awful pains around my stomach and in my lower limbs nearly laid me low.

"My nerves were simply wretched, I had no appetite for food, I fell off in weight and seldom was I able to get a good night's rest.

"Stella Vitae helped me right from the start and my troubles began to vanish like clouds before the sunshine and soon I was feeling as good as I ever did. Stella Vitae is all that is claimed for it and more, too, and it is the very thing for weak and ailing women."

Note—Stella Vitae may be obtained from any druggist and is sold upon the positive guarantee that the purchase price will be refunded if it fails to bring relief. Druggists are supplied from the Van Vleet-Mansfield Drug Co., Memphis., Tenn, Distributors.—Adv.

LESSON FOR MARCH 4

JESUS TEACHING IN THE TEMPLE

LESSON TEXT—Luke 20:19-26; 21:1-4.

GOLDEN TEXT—Render therefore unto Caesar the things which be Caesar's and unto God the things which be God's.—Luke 20:25.

REFERENCE MATERIAL—Matt. 7:28-29; Isa. 28:14-20; Acts 4:7-22; Rom. 13:1-7.

PRIMARY TOPIC—The Gift That Pleased Jesus.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Widow and Her Two Mites.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Jesus the Fearless Teacher.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Jesus Answering His Opposers.

The popularity of Jesus after the triumphal entry greatly troubled the rulers of Israel. He met their wicked challenge as to his authority in such a skillful way as to place them under condemnation for their unbelief. This condition was accentuated by the parable of the householder.

I. The Question of Paying Tribute (20:19-26).

1. Spies Sent to Entrap Jesus (v. 20). The rulers were too cowardly to do this themselves, so they employed underlings to do their mean work while they hid away. This diabolical method is employed today in political and religious life. Many times questions are raised under the guise of sincerity, when the real purpose is to do mischief.

2. Wicked Flattery (v. 21). They complimented His truthful teaching, His impartiality and courage. They certified to His faithfulness even to that extent that He would face Caesar himself. This compliment was true, though insincerely given. Back of this flattery was the base purpose to destroy Jesus. Many today praise to the face in order to stab in the back.

3. The Cunning Question (vv. 22-26). "Is it lawful for us to give tribute to Caesar or not?" At this time the Jews were galling under the yoke of the Roman government. To have answered this question either by "yes" or "no" would have involved difficulties. To have answered "yes," would have conveyed the impression of endorsing all that the Roman government did. To have answered, "no," would have at once brought him into conflict with the government. It is not always an easy matter for a Christian to determine his right relation to civil government.

Christ's reply to this question properly understood and applied is the final word on the subject. Until the civil authorities demand that which is a violation of God's law we are bound to render unto them obedience. Render unto Caesar the things due within the realm of the rights of government.

But while Christ's answer sets forth their duties to civil authorities. He used the occasion to impress upon them the duties due to God. Render unto God the things that are God's. Man bears the image of God. Therefore he should honor and serve Him. Since he enjoy's God's protection and care, it is his duty to own allegiance to Him, yield his life to Him in service, worship and praise. Everyone who enjoys the benefits of civil government is obliged to pay the taxes which are necessary for the support of that government, and everyone who receives God's favor is placed under a like obligation unto Him.

II. Jesus' Estimate of Gifts (21:1-4).

1. Jesus Watching the People Giving (v. 1). He was greatly interested in observing the way the people cast their gifts into the treasury. Perhaps there is more vital index to one's character than the way he behaves before the Lord's treasury. Jesus sits over against every treasury and knows every dollar cast into it. He knows how the dollars come and how they go. No trickery can deceive Him. He not only knows this in the church, but He knows it in the business world.

2. The Rich Gave of Their Abundance (vv. 1-4). They, no doubt, gave much, but in proportion to what they had left their gifts were small. The size of the gift is not primarily to be measured by how much it is, but how much has the giver left.

3. A Widow Gave Two Mites (vv. 2-4). In value a mite was less than a cent. Though the two coins were of small value themselves, they represented her all—not merely her surplus, but her living. Let no one deceive himself by pretending to give the widow's mite, for to give the widow's mite means to give everything.

4. Jesus' Verdict (vv. 3-4). He declared that she had given more than they all. Jesus looks into the heart and estimates our gifts not by their size but by the motives prompting them.

An Honest Man.

I hope I shall always possess firmness and virtue enough to maintain what I consider the most enviable of all titles, the character of an "honest man."—George Washington.

Happiness.

Oh, how bitter a thing it is to look into happiness through another man's eyes!—Shakespeare.

Must Make the Pot Boil.

Fortune may find a pot, but you own industry must make it boil.

SOME SMILES

MODERN ART

Artist—I owe my great success to a cow, to be frank with you.

His Friend—Ah, so the picture that made you famous was one portraying a cow?

Artist—Not exactly. I was painting a landscape in the country and a cow licked most of the paint from the canvas. I called the result "An Oyster Calling to His Mate," and here I am.

Miscalculations.

"Did you hear about Old Man Coyne going to the wall?"

"You don't say? And it was his daughter who married Duke Nottingleft, about two weeks ago!"

"Yes, think of how surprised that duke will be when he hears of himself marrying for love."

Discipline.

"Why did the sudden hush fall over the crowd when that stranger came into the room? Is he a constable or something?"

"No," answered Cactus Joe. "Most of us fellers has played in wild west films, one time or another. That felfer is a motion picture director."

The Unlucky Thirteen.

She—You think it's unlucky to be 13 at a table?

He—I do! Why, once when there were 13 of us round the table I had a most delightful girl sitting next to me—

She—And she died!

He—No—I married her.

Never Satisfied.

"He used to say if he ever made ten thousand dollars a year he'd be perfectly contented."

"And now that he is making that much, is he?"

"Not at all. He's constantly grumbling about the income tax he has to pay."

A Fish Story.

Hale—You have more brains than a fish.

Hardy—Thanks for the compliment.

Hale—Whaddye mean, compliment! Do you think that fish are intelligent?

Hardy—Well, you often see them in schools, don't you?

A LITERARY WORM

Mrs. Bookworm—No, Mr. Bug, I don't care for those cheap trashy novels at all. I prefer a more classic diet.

She'll Never Desert That.

She may not cling to him
In sickness and in health,
But she will stick, you bet,
As long as he has wealth.

Not the Right Kind of Model.

Wife—I don't see why you never use me for a model. My first husband always did.

Artist—Yes, my dear, but your first husband was an illustrator of comic papers.

A Handy Man.

Clancy—Did you hear that Skeets, the poet, is on the stage?

Nancy—Is he trying to raise the morale?

Clancy—No; when I saw him he was raising the curtain.

A Popular Malady.

"He looks like an able-bodied man."

"Yes, but he has an incurable ailment, it seems."

"What is the trouble?"

"Anything in the nature of work disagrees with him."

Climbers.

"The Notmuch family are great aspirants for social honors, are they not?"

"I should say so. Why, they're such climbers that they have even named their youngest daughter Ivy."

Discouraged Weather Prophet.

"Did ye hear that our local forecaster is tryin' to get transferred?"

"No, I didn't, Si. What's the trouble?"

"He says the climate doesn't agree with him."

That's Reasonable.

Sonnyboy—Daddy, won't you give me a bicycle?

Papa—Can't afford it, son.

Sonnyboy—A man shouldn't marry unless he can afford it.

So Many of 'Em Are.

"So you saw the film version of your story. What do you think of it?"

"It's no version: it's a perversion."

Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Four Reasons Why You Should Buy Your Ford Car This Month

I.

The unprecedented demand for Ford Cars throughout the winter months has taken the entire output of the Ford plants working at capacity, indicating that the demand this Spring will be far in excess of the number of Ford Cars than can possibly be built.

II.

January was the tenth consecutive month in which retail deliveries exceeded 100,000 Ford Cars and Trucks. Requirements for February, the month when preparations are already under way for Spring business, called for 148,407 Cars and Trucks---more than 24,000 in excess of the number we can possibly produce.

III.

Ford dealers in many parts of the country are already finding it necessary to specify future delivery dates on Ford Products because there are no reserve stocks to draw from.

IV.

Your order placed now will protect you against delay or disappointment later on. It is the only way you can be assured of reasonably prompt delivery.

We consider it important to give you these facts, so that if you are planning to purchase a Ford Car, Truck or Fordson Tractor for use this Spring or Summer you can list your order at once and take advantage of our dealer's first opportunity to make delivery.

IS THE FAULT WITH THE MINISTRY?

"This is undoubtedly a poor showing for our neighbor. But it will not be without its advantage if it stirs the Mississippi churches to renewed activity in the effort to increase their enrollment.

"The Jackson Clarion Ledger sees signs of a religious movement in the State. It reports revivals as numerous and widespread. In their wake have followed organizations to foster church membership. Bible classes are growing. Prayer meetings and Sunday school classes are being more largely attended.

"But the Clarion Ledger sees one fly in the ointment. It is the lack of energy on the part of the ministers.

"We should say that the trouble lies not so much in the
of energy on the part of the clergy as in their illiberalism.
The fault of the churches in a rural community like Mis-their proneness to be narrow. We have similar re-

THE WOMAN VOTER ON TAXES

The State organ for women of Feb. 23 contained the following splendidly stated editorial under the caption "Taxes, Taxation and More Taxes":

"Many times, since The Woman Voter was started, our attention has been directed to a situation that confronts the people of Mississippi and cries aloud for a satisfactory solution. For many years the men have put time and thought on this question of taxes. If the hundred thousand women who have registered in Mississippi, will join the good men of the State and start thinking about and discussing this vital question of taxation, we believe some definite results and improvements will be attained.

"Taking into consideration the wealth and population of our State, the taxes are too high. If the State prospers and comes into its own the taxes must be reduced.

"In many counties in this state the taxes on farm lands equal from twenty-five to fifty percent of its rental value. If we were to tax a public corporation, or any other great institution, fifty per cent of its net earnings or even half that amount, we would raise a howl that would resound from one end of the State to the other.

"The taxes in Mississippi are entirely out of proportion to our neighboring states and in some counties it almost amounts to confiscation. In the Delta, where people pay drainage tax, levy tax, good roads tax, special school tax, beside the regular State and County taxes, it is extremely burdensome.

"We want to urge more women to run for seats in the Legislature, and make a study of this question for the welfare and prosperity of the State is involved. If the men can not reduce the taxes in this State we believe the women can, because, as a rule, women have more time to study questions and examine the details of a problem and in this way they will notice many small expenditures that men overlook.

"During the last eight years the money received for state taxes has multiplied by more than one hundred per cent on all the farmers of the State. This is out of proportion to the increase of wealth and population and if continued at the same rate for eight more years, it will decrease the population, retard and stifle industry, and cripple the entire State. The idea of issuing bonds to cover the running expenses of the State heads straight toward bankruptcy. Any bank or financial institution will tell you so.

"We are simply beginning a discussion of this question and we wish to invite our readers to express their opinions on this question of such vital importance, through our columns. We will publish a questionaire to every candidate for a seat in the next legislature and undertake to obtain from them an absolute commitment on this subject. We do not conceal the fact that we expect to appeal to the women of Mississippi to vote for the candidates who can devise some method of reducing taxes, for we believe this can be done without hampering the growth and development of our state institutions."

HATTIESBURG AMERICAN CHANGES HANDS

Howard Williams, who owned a controlling interest in the Hattiesburg American, recently sold his stock to Rev. L. S. Harmon, a Methodist minister and an editor of Poplarville, Miss. Mr. Harmon has assumed the management of the paper.

Mr. Harmon is a brilliant man. He is a man of great force of character and his views are clear on public questions. If one is to judge by Mr. Harmon's past pronouncements as to public men and public conditions in Mississippi, it is safe to say that there will be no turning back or facing about in the editorial policy of theAmerican. Rather will the new editor cry "lay on MacDuff."

We regret to lose Howard Williams from the newspaper fraternity of Mississippi. He is a brilliant writer and has made his imprint on Mississippi journalism. We indulge the hope that he may soon recover his health and resume the newspaper harness.

SENTINEL RECEIVING NUMEROUS CONGRATULATIONS

It is encouraging to any one to know that his efforts are being appreciated. Even editors appreciate words of encouragement. We have received an unusually large number of letters commending The Sentinel within the past few weeks, and among them are letters from Hon. Barney Eaton of Gulfport, Judge T. C. Kimbrough of the University and a banker from ta County, Hon. D. E. Wilson, and from other friends. not recall having entered so many new subscriptions in ime as within the last few months. ## COLVILLE-MABRY

On Thursday evening of last week at 5 o'clock, Mr. Charles Colville and Miss Hattie Aline Mabry were married at the residence of Mrs. K. K. Williamson, Graham Avenue, Memphis. The ceremony was beautifully and impressively said by Rev. W. W. Adams of Trinity Methodist church, Memphis. Only a few friends besides immediate relatives were present.

Mr. Colville was reared at Dyersburg, Tenn. He comes from one of the leading families of a section of the Volunteer State which has been noted for years for the excellence of its citizenship and for developing that leadership that comes of true merit and well grounded principles. He has been a suitor of the beautiful and lovely young woman who has given him her heart and hand for some time, and as a consequence has been more or less a frequent visitor to Grenada. During the past few months he became a citizen of the county by virtue of his connection with the George C. Brown Lumber Co. as head bookkeeper and chief office man. All who have got to know him have placed a high estimate on his worth.

Mrs. Colville is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lewis of Grenada, one of Grenada's most prominent families. During the few years of her residence here, she has made many friends. She is an accomplished lady and combines in a happy way art with those home virtues which are always regarded as one of the chief stars in a wife's crown.

Mr. and Mrs. Colville spent their honeymoon with Mr. Colville's relatives at Dyersburg, Tenn. They will be most cordially welcomed back home and will be at home to their many friends at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lewis. The Sentinel joins their many friends in extending congratulations and best wishes.

DOGAN-TALBERT

On Wednesday evening of last week at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Kimbrough, in Grenada, Mr. Dave W. Dogan and Mrs. Lizzie K. Talbert were united in marriage, Rev. W. E. Farr of the First Baptist church officiating.

There were but few of even immediate relatives present. It was planned to have a very quiet affair and even some of the closest relatives of the contracting parties knew nothing of it. But its very quietness, the fact that there were none of the curious minded, served to add to the sacredness and beauty of the wedding.

Mr. Dogan is the present popular sheriff of Grenada County, having been elected about a year ago to fill out an unexpired term and it seems that his services have been so satisfactory that up to this writing, there has been no one to offer against him for the full term. He is a big hearted, generous minded man. The milk of human kindness bubbles over in his soul. It has been observed for many months that he and his lovely bride showed marked symptoms of being exceedingly fond of each other's company and the guessing ones have been making a match for quite a while.

Mrs. Dogan comes from a home where the standards that were enthroned in the sacredness of the home circle by the mothers and grandmothers of the present generation still hold sway, and it is indeed fortunate that there are some homes of this class that still survive. She is gracious, modest, intelligent and attractive in every way. She knows the arts of housekeeping better than she does the rules of some of latter day society, and possesses that womanly intuition and industry that go to guarantee that the man of her choice will always have a refuge and a counselor in his wife.

The Sentinel extends congratulations and sincerest good wishes. Mr. and Mrs. Dogan are at home to their friends in the George residence on Cherry street.

PIANO RECITAL AT COLLEGE

The piano, voice, violin and expression departments of the college will give a recital in the College Chapel Wednesday evening, March the 7th, at eight o'clock. Admission 25c.

DAVE DOGAN GIVEN "LINEN SHOWER"

It has been known by Sheriff Dogan's most intimate friends for a long while that he was a "pace-maker" in society, hence there was little surprise manifested when it was stated that the ladies of the Knox boarding house had given him a "linen shower" the day of his marriage. The Knox boarding house is just a great big home. It is managed by two fine young women, Misses Mary and Belle Knox, who give almost their every thought to making the home ideal. Mr. Dogan has been an inmate of that home almost ever since he came to Grenada now perhaps fifteen years ago, and it was but in keeping with the thoughtfulness of these young ladies and others of the household to show their appreciation of Mr. Dogan and his bride-to-be in this gracious way. It was a delightful affair and to Mr. Dogan's credit, he carried out his part well and appeared to be no novice in the arts that sometimes puzzle experienced ladies.

AN ERROR IN THE NAME

In writing the death notice of Mrs. Todd F. Mangson, which appeared in The Sentinel of last week, and error was made. Instead of using the Mangson, "Morgan" was used. Mrs. Mangson, as stated last week, was Miss Rosa Ree Berry. Mr. George R. Grant of Grenada was present at the funeral.

PETITION FOR PARDON

STATE OF MISSISSIPPI,
Grenada County.

To the Honorable Lee. M. Russell, Governor of the State of Mississippi:

Your petitioners pray that you grant a pardon to Dewitt Grant, who was convicted at the July Term of the Circuit Court of Grenada County in 1921 of manslaughter, and is now serving a five year term in the penitentiary, and assign the following reasons therefor: The proof submitted showed that this boy while driving an automobile along a street of Grenada ran over and killed a boy about 11 years old, that the street was obstructed by vehicles at the point where the accident occurred; that the proof as to whether or not he was exceeding the speed limit or was negligent was conflicting; that he was considered a very careful and safe driver; that the jury which convicted him recommended him to the mercy of the court, as they did not believe he had any criminal intent or was wilfully reckless; that he has always been a good, hardworking negro, and had never been in any trouble before; that he remained in jail for a long time prior to his conviction, and has made a model prisoner since going to the penitentiary; and that we believe that he has been sufficiently punished under the circumstances.

This party was placed on the meritorious list by the Pardon Board at the January 1923 meeting.

Respectfully submitted.
3-2-4t S. A. Grantham.
Father of the child and others.

HILL PEOPLE MOVING TO "PROMISED LAND"

Water Valley, Feb. 17—During this entire winter, commencing late last fall, there have been more people moving, most of whom are moving from this section to some section of the Delta. During the extreme spell of weather, when they could not travel very well, there was a cessation of the emigration for several weeks, but today twelve wagons and teams passed through here on their way to the Delta, in the neighborhood of Lambert, where they are evidently going to raise a big cotton crop, on the get-rich-quick idea, provided the boll weevil does n't beat them to the cotton.

Every few years the farmers get it into their heads that they can do better somewhere else, consequently they begin to hunt out a location and pretty soon they begin to move, but most of them come back after the first year and the others come back gradually. There has been more moving from this section just east of this city this season than there has been in ten years before, and strange to say that ninety-eight per cent of them move to the Mississippi Delta. Most of these fellows who move to the Delta usually plant all their crop in cotton except three or four acres which they plant in corn; and if they happen to farm there the next year they usually have to buy their feed-stuff to make a crop on.

"So you are married?"

The lady said she was.

And then he handed her that old line of talk about being sorry he hadn't met her in time.

"But you are just in time," she simpered. "Next week I get my final decree of divorce."

Then it was his move.

Getting It Right.

Tony and Ivan are two citizens who are trying to master the niceties of our language. When one of them makes a break the other tries to set him right.

"It's a fine day under head," remarked Tony.

"You mean," corrected Ivan, "it's a fine day overneath."

Wifely Advice.

"That you, dearie? I'm detained at the office on very important business. Don't sit up for me."

"I won't, dearie. You'll come home as early as you can, won't you? And John, dear—'

"Yes, what is it?"

"Please don't draw to too many inside straights."

Nothing Gratis.

A wise old man is Mr. Bright,
His method down the years
Has been to keep his mouth shut tight
And open wide his ears.

It Is Possible.

"How did the tortoise happen to beat the hare?"

"Dunno."

"An idea occurs to me."

"Well?"

"Maybe the hare got held up for speeding."

Couldn't Cut Her.

Mrs. Bumps—I've been thinking a long time of dropping her from my list of acquaintances.

Mrs. Gumps—Then why don't you do it?

Mrs. Bumps—She knows more gossip than anybody in town.

The Jazz Family.

Snip—Well, after all, there's no place like home.

Zip—You've said it—when the missus has a talking machine, the daughter a uke, the boy a radio and the kid a new drum. Give me the cabaret for peace and quiet!

Mother's Break.

"What's the delay?" asked mother, coming to the front door.

"Pa says one of his cylinders is missing."

"Well, you children get to work and hunt for it or we'll never get off."

Caution.

"Would you marry a man for riches?"

"Not without careful inquiry," replied Miss Cayenne. "Some men get rich by such close economy that nobody can break them of the habit."

NOT POPULAR

"Why don't you go to the bank and borrow money?"

"I did once, but I don't like their methods. They expect you to pay it back when you promised to."

The Near Actor.

"You say you were nearly an actor?"
"Oh, yes, so I was, in the past;
And this is the way that it happened,
I once had my leg in a cast."

Overpaid.

"Tennyson J. Daft receives a good deal more money for his poetry than he deserves," stated old Festus Pester.

"How much does he get?" we asked.

"I haven't the slightest idea."

Prophecy.

"Well, my little girl, and what are you going to be when you grow up?"

Screen Child—Oh, I'm going to figure in several divorce scandals, at least.

Behind the Times.

Clancy—What would you do if I kissed you?

Nancy—How do I know? You know very well that I haven't been to the movies lately.

SERVICE BUILDING ONE OF THE BEST

Built of the same fireproof material as other units the Service Building of the State Tuberculosis Sanatorium is located 130 feet west of Main Infirmary and is connected by a concrete tunnel for the passage of food carts and supplies.

This building contains five dining rooms with capacity of 520, large kitchen with ranges, vegetable teamers, steam sterilizers, dishwashing machines, sewing rooms, diet kitchen for the study of food preparation and its effect on tuberculosis, ice plant, cold storage, complete bakery, meat and vegetable cutting rooms, three storage rooms, offices for dietitian and assistant and rooms upstairs for the linen department and white employees.

The dining rooms have porcelain-top tables and only paper napkins will be used. The ice plant has a capacity of two tons and cold storage of 14 tons, the storage rooms of ten carloads and the bakery with 500 loaves and 200 pies per day. From the kitchen down hydraulic elevator and through the tunnel to every floor in Main Infirmary food will be served in seven minutes. All machinery in this building is driven by electricity.

Any exercise patient and especially the women, if they desire it, will be taught how to prepare and serve meals to tuberculous patients.

In the front of the building is a large recreation room where patients under supervision of nurses may play games and have special entertainments.

No other Service Building in the United States is as well-equipped and better planned than this of the State Sanatorium.

Illinois Central System Directs Attention to Its Territory as a Superior Location for Industries

When a community sets out to impress its desirability upon those who are planning to open a new industry or to relocate one that has already been established, the citizens of that community find that their best talking point is efficient and reliable railway service. Since an industry must have good railway service, the certainty or uncertainty of this service is often the deciding factor in the selection of a suitable location for its plant.

The territory of the Illinois Central System—a railroad reaching from the Great Lakes at Chicago to the Gulf of Mexico at New Orleans and from the upper Missouri River valley at Omaha, Sioux City and Sioux Falls to the Atlantic seaboard at Savannah, with a network of feeder lines woven through the fertile and incomparable Mississippi Valley—as a location for industries offers advantages of a superior nature. In addition to its splendid transportation facilities, this territory embraces the greatest food and cotton producing section of the country. It is also rich in mine and forest resources and is rapidly becoming the manufacturing center of the United States. Any size or kind of town or city that an industry could seek is to be found on the Illinois Central System.

By exerting every effort for producing uniformly efficient service, the Illinois Central System is striving to do its part in making communities on its lines desirable as industry locations. But that is not all. A Development Bureau is maintained by the railroad, one of its duties being to see that the desirability of the Illinois Central Systm territory is impressed upon those planning to establish new industries or to move old ones. This bureau is prepared to advance complete and reliable information as to the commercial advantages of any community on the Illinois Central System.

For example, the Development Bureau has industrial surveys on file covering population, transportation lines, availability of raw materials, electric and water power service, rates on gas and electricity, water supply, labor and housing conditions, taxes, resources and deposits of banks, fire protection, schools, churches, recreation facilities, available sites and industries already located. The bureau's representatives are available to all those seeking industry sites. Their expert advice is an introduction to the personal touch in service that patrons of the Illinois Central System have come to rely upon.

The Illinois Central System is anxious to serve its patrons, the citizens of the communities upon its lines. Every attention possible will be given to building up business for these communities.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

Do not hesitate because it costs so little, in truth, many insurance policies cost too much. We are only enabled to make this extraordinary offer because of some special arrangements we have made.

Some of the largest daily newspapers in the United States, more than 200 of them in all, are offering this same insurance policy contract to their readers. Among the newspapers it might be mentioned that President Harding's paper, The Marion Star, at Marion, Ohio; The Washington City Herald; The Times Journal and scores upon scores of other newspapers.

DON'T DELAY. TIME IS PRECIOUS. ACCIDENTS ARE TOO FREQUENT. THINK ABOUT WHAT SECURITY A $1000 TRAVEL ACCIDENT POLICY WILL MAKE YOU FEEL.

Knowing that there is nothing too good for Sentinel readers, we made an investigation and got the privilege of selling these policies to our readers.

No such opportunity was ever before offered as this Reader Insurance Policy. It is a bonafide travel accident policy put out by an Old Line Insurance Company.

While doing a real, a genuine service for our readers, we make it easier for one to pay his or her subscription.

The cost is just a little over ¼ of one cent a day—just think of it. Who would not be willing to double this small amount tomorrow morning as a guarantee against accidents?

The policy is issued to both men and women between the ages of 16 and 70 for white and colored people. No red tape. No medical examination required.

The newspapers are full of stories of automobile and other accidents every day. You may be the next.

DISCUSSES DEVELOPMENT OF INDIVIDUAL

did not and how much more money the college graduate could earn over the non-college graduate, a miserable standard, he seemed to think.

Dr. Losey said that with such teaching as the country is having in its schools it is no wonder that the social, political, economic and spiritual life the land is topsy turvey and that the life of the Nation, as it were, is seated over a slumbering volcano. He said that the money being demanded to run the colleges and the universities was getting to be such a burden on the man back home, the masses, that he was waking up to the enormity of it and was rising to throw it off unless the burden is lessened and greater and better results shown.

He said that there was bound to be an explosion that would startle the country unless there was a radical face about in the colleges. He did not exempt the parents from that indictment. He gave some instances of a father visiting a college to "inquire about how John is getting along," who, on being informed that "John" was by no means a beacon light, soliloquized about this way:" "John is a mighty good boy. His mother and myself are making a great sacrifice, we are denying ourselves many things so that we may educate John in order that he may not have to work as we have had to do to make a living. We want John to make a living with his head." This father's idea, he said, ran through and through the life of the country. Of course he said he commended the father for looking out for his child, for wantig to provide for him, but what he did condemn was the idea abroad in the world that a boy or young man ought to live without what is usually termed real "work." The idea of living without "working to make a living," tended to strategy, intrigue, deception and spoils and to getting something for as nearly nothing as possible. He said work that made one dirty, that soiled his hands and his clothing, should carry no less dignity and be no less honored that the reading of Latin, or the classics or presiding as a judge in a court. The "work" was the pillar that bore it all. Without the man who "works," as it is too frequently now termed, the things that many regard as the more elegant and more important could not exist.

He made an earnest plea for more inward education and less outward show. He made an earnest plea for more education that would make young men see themselves as they really are and less of the education that encourages young men to believe that they can "get by with it." "Getting by" with anything, the speaker thought, was only for the time being, and the one who thinks he is doing the "getting by" is fooling himself and doing himself the greatest injury and in the last analysis "getting by" makes him a sort of fugitive from the real truth.

Dr. Losey spent two days in Grenada and appeared on the platform four times. He expressed great delight at what he had seen here and at the cordiality of his welcome. He has been coming to Mississippi for a number of years but until now he has been only to the Mississippi State College for women at Columbus and to Blue-Mountain College. The hope is entertained that hereafter arrangements may be made that will make Grenada a part of his itinerary The Sentinel feels that it was unfortunate that more of the heads of families did not hear Dr. Losey's addresses. He is unlike the average lecturer. Listening to the average lecturer is like eating soup: One enjoys it and soon fills his stomach, but it does not stay with you.

The thread of gold running through the entire lectures was the one that begins in the home and goes on and on. It is evident that Dr. Losey thinks that the home is nesting place out of which the best in manhood and in womanhood comes, and that if the home fails, then an unspeakable burden is placed upon everybody along down through the years. It was evident that he believes that the home is the power plant, which, when in proper tact and the wires break along the way, that the mending of the wires is an easy task. It was evident, too, that he believes in the old idea of the parents at home going with the children over lessons for the coming day and that the parent should keep in intimate touch with the affairs of the child.

STATE DEPT. EDUCATION ANNOUNCES EXAMINATIONS

Examinations for candidates for the office of county superintendent of education will be given as follows:

Thursday and Friday, March 8th and 9th, at Jackson.

Thursday and Friday, March 29th and 30th, at the county sites of the respective counties,

Tuesday and Wednesday, May 29th and 30th, at Jackson.

Candidates will please notice that three examinations have been provided for their convenience, two at Jackson, and one in the different counties. Under the law the candidates must stand the examination either in the county in which he or she expects to make the race, or at Jackson. Examinations will be on the sixteen subjects regularly required for a first grade teachers license. To pass, one must make not less than fifty on any subject, with a general average of seventy-five on all subjects. The law requires that every candidate stand the examination, no matter what their previous experience or training has been. Applicants should review especially Modern History, and read one or two Elementary Algebra, General Science, good texts on Pedagogy. Any qualified elector who passes this examination may offer for county superintendent, provided he or she has been a citizen of the county two years, and the State not less than four years immediately preceding the election.

NEELY ELECTED CITY RECORDER

Total Vote Only Runs to 267

At the special election held Feb. 28 to choose a successor to H. G. Talbert, who had resigned as City Recorder, there were but two candidates, Mrs. Bettie Inman and Mr. E. C. Neely. Mrs. Inman's total vote was 90 while Mr. Neely's total vote was 177.

Mr. Neely is a clever, obliging man and is capable of satisfactorily meeting the duties of the office. That he will be faithful, anybody who knows him is ready to admit.

Mrs. Inman did but little campaigning, while Mr. Neely very wisely and properly sought a personal interview with many of the voters. The result would no doubt have been the same had they both actively campaigned, nevertheless it again demonstrates that the public, when it comes to public affairs and a woman undertakes to compete with a man, expects to consider both the man and the woman on the same basis.

Mrs. Inman states that she really did not expect to be elected, but she is nevertheless very grateful to those who so kindly interested themselves in her.

HAVE YOU GOT TICKET NO. 46,464?

If you have ticket No. 46,464 in the $300 Christmas Gold Distribution and will present same to L. J. Doak, you will receive $50 in Gold. The ticket came from The Leader.

NEGRO WOMAN USES KNIFE

One Stab Sends Antagonist to Grave

The scene around the outer door of the picture show where the colored people make their exit was one of blood and tragedy last Saturday night. An altercation or jostling of one against the other was the cause of Doshie Dulaney using a small pocket knife on Dorabel Shelby, both negroes. The knife entered the left breast and must have penetrated the heart. Dr. Clanton was called immediately and administered to the wounded woman at the Mayor's office. She was carried home where the doctor made another examination of the wound. She died within about one hour. There was very little blood on the skin and the incision was so small that one could hardly believe that it would cause death.

Doshie Dulaney was arrested by W. J. Jennings, Jr. about 3 o'clock Sunday morning at or near Brown's mill. She seemed to be very much frightened. She was tried before Mayor Tatum Tuesday afternoon and bound over to await the action of the grand jury. Her bond was fixed at $750. A. G. Roane appeared as attorney for the woman.

There are the usual conflicting statements as to what caused the trouble between the two women. It is stated by some that some words arose between the two and that the use of the knife followed. It is also stated that in coming out of the opera house, the two women were jostled against each other and that this caused the trouble.

It seems to be generally understood that the dead woman was rather handy on quarreling and fussing, although she had never attempted any violence.

It is understood that Mr. T. P. Lamkin will make Doshie's bond as soon as certain business arrangements can be made.

GRENADA BOYS ENLIST IN NAVAL SERVICE

U. S. Navy Recruiting Station
Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 21, 1923.
Editor Grenada Sentinel,

I beg to advise you that the following named young men have all enlisted in the Navy, and want to take this opportunity in informing you that Grenada has the Navy well represented, for there have been a total of 8 men enlisted in the Navy during the last three months.

Howard A. Dumas, George D. Ladd, William O. Prather, Alfonso D. Collins. The last named man has been in the Navy before, and is now going to take advantage of one of the technical schools. Your courtesy in bringing this information before the public through your paper will be greatly appreciated.

It is also a pleasure to note that the young men from Grenada all pass an excellent medical examination.

The Navy at present has the following schools open to young men who wish to learn trades: engineering, electrical, radio, coppersmith, clerical, musician and the Hospital Corps training school.

Sincerely yours,
A. Richenback,
Chief Machinist's Mate, U. S. N.

GLENWILD TO BE REPRESETED

Grenada County Cattle at Kansas Show.

Glenwild Plantation at Grenada will send thirteen sturdy representatives of Grenada County "beef-on-the-hoof" to the Sixth Annual Hereford Round-Up, to be sold as a part of the 575 pedigreed, registered cattle offered in the national four-day auction.

Cattlemen from every part of the United States will congregate in Kansas City for the Round-Up. The event is an annual assembly of the men who produce the nation's beef supply, with the auction of registered Hereford breeding cattle as the magnet about which interest centers. Herefords are the breed of beef cattle used almost universally throughout the "range country" to grow market beef.

Cattle bred in thirteen states will go through the sale ring. Eighty-seven breeding farms are represented by the consignments. Missouri leads with 270 head; Kansas is second with 86; Iowa ranks third with 65; Kentucky is a strong fourth with 53. Other consignments are from Arkansas, Wisconsin, Texas, Georgia, Minnesota, South Dakota, Nebraska and Indiana.

A JAIL DELIVERY

White Man and Negro In Get-Away.

Jailor George Kilgore answered a call from the prisoners up-stairs at the jail last Saturday night about eight o'clock and as a result a white man by the name of L. C. McNeil and a negro made their escape.

Jailor Kilgore was sent out of town that afternoon and while he was away it was necessary for his wife to attend the prisoners up stairs. She gave the keys to a negro who was in the corridor and a sort of trusty, and it seems that when this white man and the negro walked out into the corridor, they failed to walk back into the cell, a thing which Mrs. Kilgore failed to observe. So when the jailor reached the top of the stairway and opened the door to the corridor which surrounds the cages, this white man and the negro grabbed him and threw him down and made a dash for liberty.

McNeil was not a Grenada County prisoner. He was brought here only recently from Carroll County to avoid a probable lynching. He was arrested on the charge of bigamy and it seems that he had not long lived in Carroll County before he induced some woman to marry him. He is described as follows: About 30 years of age, weight about 140 pounds, height, about 5 feet 7 inches, blue eyes, gold front tooth and light brown hair. When he left the jail he had on dark trousers with a stripe in them and wore brown army shirt and brown sweater, and had on one black leather and one brown leather shoe. Sheriff Dogan offers a reward of $50 for his capture.

The negro who escaped was in jail awaiting the payment of a small fine. The charge against him was abuse of his wife.

J. W. WOOD ANNOUNCES FOR CIRCUIT CLERK

The Sentinel has been asked to place Mr. J. W. Wood formally before the voters of Grenada County as a candidate for the office of circuit clerk.

Mr. Wood was born and reared in Oxberry community, this County. He resided in that neighborhood until about three years ago when he removed near Grenada and purchased a farm. His whole activities and life have had to do with the farm and a country store.

When in the Oxberry community, he took a leading interest in all affairs that pertained to the welfare and the betterment of his neighbors and friends. In a measure he kept an "open house", and was the friend and accomodating one for everybody who visited that community. He aided in looking after the sick and the distressed, in short he was the ready man for any good thing.

Mr. Wood is by nature and by training accomodating, clever and obliging. He is full of energy. There is not a "lazy hair in his hide". He is ready day or night to serve a friend or to do a good deed. He is worthy of the highest confidence. He can be relied upon to be faithful to any trust. He stands for the best things in the social, moral and religious life of the County. He is unknown in the politics of the County and inexperienced as a candidate.

It would therefore seem safe to assert that with his record as a man, and his experience in business, that he is thoroughly qualified for the duties of the office of circuit clerk, and, that should he be elected, he will make a satisfactory, clever and accomodating officer. Mr. Wood will no doubt utilize the time between now and the primary to see as many voters of the County as possible.

ALL DAY RALLY

Thursday, March 8, with the Holcomb Baptist Church; Friday, March 9, with the Graysport Church.

Program for both churches:

Morning

10:00 Devotional: "Thy Kingdom Come" by Rev. J. W. Hicks.
10:30 Enrollment by the Association Organizer.
11:00 Pastors part in our Program by Dr. J. R. G. Hewlett.
11:30 Sermon, The Mission of the Church by Dr. W. E. Farr.
12:30 Lunch—Old fashion basket dinner.

Afternoon

1:30 Devotional: "Thy Will Be Done" by Rev. W. B. Ables.
2:00 Layman's Part in our Program —R. E. Perry, W. H. Martin, J. B. Perry, H. G. Anderson, Rev. Cook, Rev. L. F. Fowler, Rev. L. J. Lott.
2:30 The plan for the All Day Meeting in evehy Church during the Month of April.
1. How to Reach Them—Rev. J. W. Edison, Rev. S. P. Morgan, W. T. Turner, W. L. Bickerstaff, J. D. Smith, J. M. Minard, and M. McKibben.
2. How to conduct a cash campaign in every church—Dr. J. R. G. Hewlett.
3. How am I going to pay my pledge—O. L. Kimbrough and others.

4:00 Consecration Prayer by Rev. W. E. Farr.

The vhurches in the eastern part of the County will send their delegates to Graysport, while the churches in the western part will send their delegates to Holcomb, and the churches in the northern and central will go to either or both. It is very important that every church in the Association send delegates.

EUGENE DAVIS FOR SUPERVISOR, DISTRICT 3

The Sentinel is authorized to place the name of Mr. Eugene Davis before the voters of district 3, Grenada County ,as a candidate for the office of supervisor.

It is a hopeful sign when a man of Mr. Davis' mental caliber and well established business success consents to lay aside his own personal affairs and serve the public as an officer. Few will question the statement that had there been more men in the public service during the past eight or ten years with Mr. Davis' business capacity, and who think as he does, that a veritable howl would not be going up from one end of the State to the other against high taxes and extravagance in the use of public funds.

Mr. Davis has resided where he is now about three years, yet in truth he has been almost a citizen of Grenada County from his very boyhood up. He was reared at or near Sabougla, Calhoun County, where he and various members of his family were engaged in the mercantile business and in active farming. But Grenada has always been his shipping point, thus it is that he is thoroughly familiar with the citizenship of Grenada County and with the economic and public life of the County.

Mr. Davis is an exceptionally well poised man. He has been a student of men and of conditions and is far above the average in his knowledge of current events and as to how the events of the past have their bearing on the present. He is a very successful farmer. He has had extended experience in the mercantile business. He is a cool, calculating man and it would seem that he has shown that business acumen and that wise economy in his own affairs that guarantees that he will have a keen, personal interest in the doings of the board of supervisors, should he be elected.

Mr. Davis shares the views of thousands of the most thoughtful and painstaking men of the State today in thinking that the State and the counties cannot go the gait they have within the past eight years or more without still further unsettling the population of the State and placing a burden on the taxpayers and the next generation that would prove disastrous indeed.

Mr. Davis will do doubt make an active campaign and see every voter in his district, if possible.

A TALLAHATCHIE COUNTY WOMAN DIES

Mrs. Dr. W. T. Denman died at her home west of Cascilla, Tallahatchie County, on Tuesday night of this week. She was an estimable lady. There were a number in and near Grenada who had the privilege of knowing her, besides she had a number of near relatives in the County, among them the family of Mr. J. H. Bull at Elliott, all of whom are saddened by her death. She was past sixty years of age. Her children are all grown. Hon. Richard Denman, district attorney of that district, is a son of Mrs. Denman.

The Sentinel and Commercial Appeal for $1.75; 50 cents more gets Progressive Farmer and $1 more gets also an Accident Insurance policy for $1000 good for one year. Can you beat this combination?

MORE SUITS AGAINST SUPERVISORS

Calhoun City, Miss., Feb. 24:—Four suits were filed in the Chancery Court of Calhoun County last week by State Revenue Agent Stokes V. Bobertson, represented by W. J. Evans, against the members of the Calhoun County Board of Supervisors, banks and the U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co. All four of the bills filed were in regard to various public funds of the county and are in addition to the suit filed several months ago.

One of the bills goes back to January 1920 and charges that the Board of Supervisors named all the banks of the county as depositories for the public funds in an illegal manner and that the banks were not required to furnish any security whatever, etc., and seeks to collect for the benefit of Calhoun County six per cent per annum on the daily balance of all funds, less amounts already paid.

Another bills refers in a like manner to the method of naming the county depository in January 1921, charging that "The Board of Supervisors unlawfully conspired together" with several banks of the county to cheat and defraud the county of Calhoun by entering into an agreement whereby the public funds were pro-rated among the banks". This bill excepts the East and West road funds.

Another bill refers in a similar manner to the method of naming depository in January 1922 and also seeks interest at the rate of six per cent.

Another bill charges members of the Board of unlawfully transferring on March 9, 1920, a part of the $3000,000: road funds from that fund for other purposes.

ART EXHIBIT AT GRENADA COLLEGE LIBRARY

Copies of the Masterpieces Will Be Seen Here.

Recognizing the educational advantages to be derived from opportunities to see good art, the College has arranged with the Elson Art Publication Co., Inc., of Belmont, Mass., for an art exhibition of two hundred pictures to be held in the College Library, March 7-10 from four to six o'clock.

This collection, consisting in large part of carbon photographs, photogravures and prints in full color, made directly from the original masterpieces, is selected by art experts and should attract large crowds.

A small admission will be charged, the entire proceeds of which, after deducting the expense of the exhibit will be used in the purchase of pictures for the College.

Remember that The Sentinel is prepared to furnish the most handsome and the most elegant engraved wedding invitations. They are equal to any and excelled by none.

"Opportunity Knocks But Once"

Is Taking out a Life Policy a Matter of Business Or One of Sentiment?

Do you not figure on the cost when you go to buy Bonds, a Farm, a suit of Clothes or anything else? Then why not exercise the same business judgment about taking Life insurance? Safety, age and the character of the Company counts for much in taking out Life Insurance. The Aetna Life Insurance Company began business in 1850 or 73 years ago.

We insure from 16 to 70. The Company has recently reduced rates on many important forms. As an illustration, we quote a few rates below on Term, Ordinary Life, 10, 15 and 20 Pay Life contracts, also 20 Year Endowment.
